Global distribution and depot services network for clinical trial supply

Global distribution and depot services network for clinical trial supply

We understand how challenging the management of clinical supply can be. International trials require global facilities in strategic regions combined with local insight and experience of the various regulatory requirements for investigative products to be supplied to sites effectively and efficiently.

With experience of shipping to over 110 countries globally, we can offer expert guidance on the drug shipment process at the start of each protocol. This can contribute to faster study start-up dates and the removal of unnecessary delays. We provide both planning foresight and an optimum distribution strategy (a combination of direct-to-site shipments and using in-country or regional depots) to ensure your product arrives in the right place, at the right time and in the right condition.

Current Almac Global Facilities

Our global facilities and strategically positioned depots provide a robust strategy for shipping directly to clinical sites as well as supplying our network with a bulk supply, ensuring global coverage for clinical trial distribution.

Current Global Depot Network

Our global depot network receives bulk supply shipments from our Almac facilities thus providing the capabilities to supply and service all sites within that country. This allows us to serve all the key market needs for your clinical programs.

Almac will develop the best strategy to deliver your clinical trial supplies direct to site or direct to site in country from an Almac global facility or through one of our contracted depots.

Our extensive network enables you to outsource the complete distribution function to our centrally managed distribution and depot teams, ensuring full global time zone coverage, allowing crucially valuable customer resources to be deployed into other key areas.

Through continuous KPI reporting, training and evaluation of performance, Almac's dedicated global depot team, depot manager and team leaders actively monitor the operational performance of the depot providers, and their respective teams to ensure you are benefiting from the best possible solution. The team manage and control all data and inventory through a single integrated central system, acting as the central contact point for our network and perform regular visits to maintain strong working relationships across the network.

The network is sub-contracted and audited by Almac every two years. All depots are managed via distributorship agreements / technical agreements and all individual study requirements are defined in protocol-specific instruction documents.
